A Natural Alternative for Fungus Gnat Control

Adult fungus gnats (sciarids), are small (3-5mm) dark flies with long antennae. They are seen in close proximity of the plants. They resemble fruit flies and can be identified once trapped on yellow sticky cards. The larvae (maggots) are translucent white with shiny blackheads. Their body is almost transparent and internal organs are visible.

Otinem and Gnatnem are Nematodes which are naturally present in the soil and live on various larvae which are also present in the soil.
